

Sherwood Park Northstars Bantam Football Team Supports Rohit Land Development with Callaghan Ravine Clean up

In late June, Rohit Land Development kicked off a summer clean-up of the ravine in their Callaghan development. The initiative was in partnership with the Sherwood Park Northstars Bantam Football Team who hustled together to preserve the pristine ravine environment for the South Edmonton community and the wildlife in the area.

The team of 25 volunteers worked tirelessly to collect over 50 bags of garbage during the cleanup, bringing back to life the natural landscape that complements the community. In return for the effort and support in revitalizing the ravine, Rohit Land Development donated $5,000 to the Northstars Bantam Football Team.

Dave McKinnon, Head Coach for the team, shared his gratitude, "This fundraiser was truly a positive partnership for everyone involved. Our team benefitted from both the fundraising and the team building, and the community and its residents were able to enjoy the benefits of having a clean ravine.

Rohit Land Development has been organizing this annual ravine clean up in Callaghan since 2005; "it is important for us to be a continuous part of the community and making it a better place for current and future residents," shared Russell Dauk, Vice President of Rohit Land Development.

Through the process of having the ravine all cleaned up, Coach McKinnon summed it up best by saying "such a beautiful ravine makes this work so much more enjoyable," and the results definitely showed!

About Callaghan:

Set along the lushness of the Blackmud Creek ravine, Callaghan is south Edmonton's new, executive wellness community. With a delicate balance of estate homes, expansive single-family homes, and executive town homes and condos, Callaghan offers something for everyone. The ravine, threaded with 50 year old spruce and aspen trees is networked with walking trails. Landscaping and architectural controls balancing environment and exclusivity will support the community's fit into its natural setting.

There's a little something for everyone at Callaghan.
